Coronavirus: The first death in Greece

Thursday, 12 March 2020 06:08

Patras University General Hospital.

The first death of the new SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus has been announced in our country.

He is a 66-year-old Greek citizen with underlying diseases who was admitted to the Negative Pressure Unit of FPI Patras on March 2, 2020 and intubated on March 6, 2020.

According to a statement from the Ministry of Health, on the morning of March 10, the patient experienced a significant deterioration, which progressed to polyorganic insufficiency and resulted in extensive therapeutic interventions on March 12, 2020 at 03:15.